P³

It's elemental and an atomic success! You won't find this on the Periodic Table but rather this cracking idea is known university-wide as Pete's Pet Posse, OSU's Pet Therapy Program. The wellness program was established in the Fall of 2013 as a collegiate cooperative designed to positively enhance the physical and emotional health of humans campus-wide while contributing to the success of being America's Healthiest Campus here at OSU. CVHS partners with P³ to provide veterinary wellness care for participating animals and ensures the animals are maintaining healthy lifestyles. Our good friends at Nestlé Purina PetCare Company provide for the nutritional needs of the animals by supplying food for the program. High five, Nestlé! Once accepted to the program, animal participants complete training to receive a Canine Good Citizen certification and registration with Therapy Dogs, Inc. CVHS recently co-hosted Bark-a-laureate for animals receiving their merited awards. Want to know more? Full stop at <https://hr.okstate.edu/pettherapy> What's not to adore about warm fuzzies?
