

Net Vet Weekly - August 10, 2020

Veterinary Hospital Re-Opens During COVID-19

The Veterinary Medical Hospital is now accepting appointments for non-emergency cases.

Curbside admission and discharge protocols, social distancing and proper PPE remain in place. Read more at Veterinary Hospital Expands Services.

All COVID-19 related information can be viewed in detail on the College of Veterinary Medicine website at COVID-19 Updates.

Oklahoma Picks Veterinarian as New State Epidemiologist

Congratulations to Dr. Jared Taylor on being selected as Oklahoma's epidemiologist consultant for the State Department of Health. Dr. Taylor is an associate professor in the Department of Veterinary Pathobiology. Read the full story at Veterinarian Serving as Oklahoma's Epidemiologist.

It's Farrowing Season!

Lionel Dawson, BVSc, MS, DACT, professor and extension veterinarian at Langston University, has some tips for swine owners on farrowing season for gilts and sows. Read the full article at Farrowing Season.

Dr. Jennifer Rudd on COVID-19

Tune in to this podcast, created by the College of Arts and Sciences, featuring Jennifer Rudd, DVM, Ph.D., DACVM, discussing the pandemic and more. Hear the entire podcast at Dr. Jennifer Rudd on COVID.

House Officer Seminar

Adam Bassett, DVM, will present "The Clinical Applications of Genetic Sequencing Technologies" on Thursday, Aug. 13, at 8 a.m. in Room 002C at the Veterinary Medical Hospital.

Dr. Bassett is a theriogenology resident mentored by Dr. Reed Holyoak. The recorded lecture will be available on Moodle in the course VBSC 6710.

Vet Med Faces of Research: Dr. Erik Clary

Erik Clary, DVM, Ph.D., DACVS, is featured in this month's Vet Med Faces of Research series. An associate professor of small animal surgery and bioethics, he talks about his research focused on improving the performance of orthopedic implants in both animals and people. For the full story and short video, please visit Vet Med Faces of Research: Dr. Erik Clary.

Faculty Featured on The Pet Buzz

On separate occasions, two veterinary specialists were recently featured on the popular radio show, The Pet Buzz.

Listen in as Emily McCool, DVM, DACVO, talks about cataracts in pets about 2 minutes into the program at Dr. McCool on The Pet Buzz.

You can hear Stefano Di Concetto, DVM, MS, DACVAA, discuss anesthesia in pets about 24 minutes into the program at Dr. Di Concetto on The Pet Buzz.

Online CE Available

In response to COVID-19 challenges, we are now offering online professional development for veterinarians and veterinary technicians.

Stay current and earn CE from the comfort of your home or office. Learn more about the courses available, the cost, and where to register at Online Professional Development.

Getting to Know You

Liz Soler, DVM, is an ophthalmology resident. Originally from many locations in the state of Washington, she earned both her BS and DVM degrees from Washington State University. She most recently completed an ophthalmology internship at OSU. Dr. Soler's research interests include ocular pain, especially associated with glaucoma, corneal disease, and ocular manifestations of systemic disease.

Liz is married to a wonderful husband who works in dairy food production. In her spare time, she enjoys horseback riding, swimming, travel, anything in the sun, making lists, and organizing things.

Favorite Quote: "The three great essentials to achieve anything worthwhile are first, hard work; second, stick-to-itiveness; third, common sense." - Thomas A. Edison

OSTATETV

*OSU College of Veterinary Medicine
308 McElroy Hall
Stillwater, OK 74078*

This email was sent by the OSU College of Veterinary Medicine through a partnership with the OSU Alumni Association. To change your Net Vet Weekly subscription, please email Derinda Blakeney.