

Net Vet Weekly - August 26, 2019

Welcome Class of 2023!

The CVHS officially welcomed 106 new students during the Class of 2023 Induction Ceremony. Learn more about the class and hear from two students as they all begin their journey to earn an OSU DVM degree at Welcome Class of 2023.

OSU Parasitologists to Collaborate on EPSCoR Grant

Dr. Susan Little, Regents Professor and Krull-Ewing Professor in veterinary pathobiology, will lead the OSU contingent in a collaborative tick-borne diseases study.

Tick-borne diseases are an increasing public health concern worldwide and in particular in the Great Plains. Read more on who is involved in the study, what they hope to accomplish and more at Sharing Science through Ticks.

Dr. Ranjan's Team Receives Grant

Congratulations to Dr. Ashish Ranjan and his team on receiving a 2-year Oklahoma Applied Research Support program grant. Provided by the Oklahoma Center for the Advancement of Science and

House Officer Seminar

Jillian Paegelow, DVM, will present "Nebulized Caffeic Acid Phenylethyl Ester Attenuation of LPS-induced Airway Inflammation in Horses" on Thursday, Aug. 29, at 8 a.m. in Room 104 at the Veterinary Medical Hospital. Dr. Paegelow is an equine internal medicine resident mentored by Dr. Lyndi Gilliam.

Getting to Know You

Emily Davis, DVM, is a small animal internal medicine resident. Originally from Shawnee, Oklahoma, she earned her DVM degree from Oklahoma State University.

Davis owns two dogs and two cats and loves Diet Coke. In her spare time, Emily enjoys being outside, Technology, the grant totals $310,000.

Ranjan's team will be developing a minimally invasive pet sterilization technology. CVHS collaborators on this project include Drs. Kimberly Carter, Lionel Dawson, Candace Lyman, and Jerry Malayer.

Getting to Know You

Stefano Di Concetto, DVM, MSc, DACVAA, is a clinical associate professor of veterinary anesthesiology. Originally from Mantua, Italy, he earned his DVM degree from the University of Parma in Italy. He earned an MSc degree from the Royal Veterinary College and Zoological Society of London, United Kingdom. Dr. Di Concetto's research interests include the use of veterinary acupuncture in anesthesia practice and pain control in ruminants.

Before becoming an anesthesiologist, Di Concetto was a zoo veterinarian. In his spare time, Stefano enjoys hiking, cooking and supporting reforestation projects.

Favorite Quote: "It is the province of knowledge to speak, and it is the privilege of wisdom to listen." - Oliver Wendell Holmes gardening, hiking and kayaking as well as a good concert.

Favorite Quote: "You've always had the power my dear, you just had to learn it for yourself." - The Wizard of Oz

Getting to Know You

Jessica Rutledge, BVetMed MRCVS, is an equine internal medicine resident. Originally from Augusta, Georgia, she earned her veterinary degree from the Royal Veterinary College, University of London. Dr. Rutledge's research interests include endocrinology.

A lifelong Georgia football fan, Jessica enjoys traveling, eventing, racing, baking, making cocktails, shopping and art museums.

Favorite Quote: "It's good-bye. But we lean forward to the next crazy venture beneath the skies."

Editor's Note

The next issue of Net Vet Weekly will be published Monday, Sept. 9, 2019.

*OSU Center for Veterinary Health Sciences
308 McElroy Hall
Stillwater, OK 74078*

This email was sent by the OSU Center for Veterinary Health Sciences through a partnership with the OSU Alumni Association. To change your Net Vet Weekly subscription, please email Derinda Blakeney.