Equine CE Event

Thank you Boehringer Ingelheim and Patterson Animal Health for recently sponsoring a continuing education seminar at Remington Park.

Drs. Daniel Burba, Jillian Paegelow, and Mike Schoonover presented valuable equine-related information to approximately 40 veterinarians who attended the 2 hour CE offering and evening activities.

Adam Bassett, DVM, is a theriogenology resident. Originally from Lincoln, Nebraska, he earned his DVM degree from Iowa State University. After a short time in equine private practice, he worked at the Great Plains Veterinary Educational Center in Nebraska where he assisted with research, teaching and providing veterinary care to horses and beef cattle. Dr. Bassett's research interests include equine uterine microbiome.

In his spare time, Adam enjoys riding his horse, playing the guitar, exercising and being outdoors.

Getting to Know You

Congratulations Dr. Neel!

Congratulations, Dr. Tina Neel ('79) on being recognized along with her full-service veterinary practice in Oklahoma City by The Oklahoman news source. Both print and online readers from across the state voted Neel Veterinary Hospital as the Readers' Choice Best Veterinary Hospital of 2019 in Oklahoma!

Joshua Butcher, BA, MS, PhD, is an assistant professor in the physiological sciences department. Originally from Marietta, Georgia, he earned a BA degree in biology from Asbury College, an MS degree in chemistry from the University of Kentucky and a PhD in cellular and integrative physiology from West Virginia University.

Dr. Butcher's research interest focuses on how muscle mass can attenuate obesity-derived cardiovascular dysfunction. More specifically, the interplay that occurs in a population that will experience life-long obesity in conjunction with aging and determining the beneficial effects of an exercise mimetic.

He and his wife have two daughters, Isabelle (4) and Sofia (2) and a 55 lb. lap dog, a Samoyed named Pudge. In his spare time, Joshua enjoys working out, reading fiction and being the "favorite" parent.

Favorite Quote: "Success is not the lack of failure, just the willingness to try again."
